

ABSTRACT

A method for dynamic generation and exchange of a key which may be used to authenticate messages between a mobile network device (e.g., a laptop computer) and a network device (e.g., a router) configured to route datagrams destined for the mobile network device.

20747228.doc